Time Bomb in Passenger Car Results in Carnage—Is Accepted as Germany's Reply to Stiffening of French Occupational Rule

(By The Associated Press) DUSSELDORF, June 30.—Nine Belgian soldiers were killed today by the explosion of a time bomb in a train carrying Belgian troops on leave back to Belgium from the Ruhr.

Between 25 and 35 soldiers were wounded. The explosion is regarded in military circles here as the German reply to the stiffening of the occupational regulations in the Belgian zone since the killing of two Belgian soldiers by a time bomb some days ago and it is thought to have been carried out by the same organization which arranged the explosion which killed the German in the Wiesbaden railway station this week.

It was announced that penalties will be applied by the occupational authorities for the outrage.

Auto Spotlights Are Now Banned

RICHMOND, Va., June 30.—Spotlights on automobiles in Virginia are outlawed by a new law effective this week. It is held that the spotlight has a blinding effect on the driver of an automobile coming from the driver's direction and has been the direct cause of numerous accidents on the State highways.

The law, which was designed to regulate automobile headlights, makes no specific mention of the spotlights, but rules against the use of bulbs of a certain voltage.

Most of the two days will be devoted to enjoying about the park in the same manner as thousands of others do who visit the place. Secretary Works of the Interior Department, who has charge of the park, has been trying to persuade the president to do some trout fishing while there, but Mr. Harding is not regarded as much of a fisherman and it is doubtful if he will try his luck with the fly. Extensive preparations are reported to have been made by the Park Service for the visit of the President and Mrs. Harding.

Hot? Sure it is! But little old Joe Carr, son of L. T. Carr of Cincinnati, doesn't seem to mind it at all. He just goes on "smiling through." Try this stunt some of these days when you're sweltering in these way-up-in-the-90 temperatures.

RICHMOND, Va., June 30.—A writ directing Helmut P. Holler, president, and other officers of the "Oriental University of Virginia," Cherrydale, Va., to appear at the November term of the Richmond Circuit Court and show cause why the alleged university's charter should not be revoked, was issued yesterday by Judge R. The hearing will be held on the first Monday in November. Application for the writ was made by Attorney-General John R. Saunders, at the request of the attorney-general of the United States. Attorney-General Daugherty was represented at the hearing on the writ by Miss M. Pearl McCall, assistant United States attorney for the district of Columbia. State License Inspector B. C. Coleman stated today that all Virginia inspectors have been notified by James M. Hays, assistant secretary of the Commonwealth, to refrain from enforcing drastically the new state automobile headlight law until sufficient time has been given the owners of automobiles to conform with the provisions. Car owners will be given twenty days to comply with the law. Owing to the sudden and large demand which will be made on the manufacturers for approved lamps for automobile headlights it is expected that it will be about thirty days before all needs can be met and Mr. Coleman understands that it will be about August 1st, before rigid enforcement of the law will be possible. The fine for failure to comply with this provision is from $10 to $50.

Cablegrams received by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fitzgerald report the continued improvement of their daughter, Miss Lucy Lee Fitzgerald who was recently seized with an attack of apoplexy and who is now in operation in a Paris hospital. The messages received indicate that her recovery will be swift. Several Danville people are in Paris at present and have been constantly in great measure relieving the hardship of being overtaken with illness when far from home.

Work has now been started on the development of West Main street, one of the new streets to be cut from West Main street between the Ficklen place and the home of Julian Meade. Part of the brush has been cleared away and grading operations have been begun. The street is to be improved a distance of 600 feet. Water Is Knee Deep In Streets

Man Ordered Out Comes Back and Is Shot In Leg

(Special to The Bee.) STUART, Va., June 30.—A good deal of interest has been caused here through the several near encounters which have taken place between W. A. Manley and N. L. Lancaster these resulting in Manley being ordered to remain out of Patrick county and who, after the court's dictum returned and when pursued by officers was shot and wounded in the leg. Manley who was hired as a truck driver by Lancaster, fell out over the payment of services and strong personal feeling became engendered over the affair. After the passage of personal threats between the two men, Manley is said to have seized Lancaster and to have treated him roughly the house being in place within sight of Mayor Smith who was instrumental in separating them. This clash resulted in the issuance of several warrants both criminal and civil and attorneys were employed. The attorneys held a meeting and a compromise was reached. The terms finally agreed to by the mayor and the conflicting elements was that Manley pay a fine of $25 and a 30 day jail sentence, thus to be suspended if Manley would agree to leave Patrick county for six months. Manley agreed and was placed in the custody of the jailer to wind up his business affairs in the home. This he could not do and he left Stuart with his wife and went to Martinsville. Several days later, Manley returned in a motor truck with two men from Martinsville for the purpose of removing some effects he had acquired in Stuart. No sooner had Manley reached the town when Lancaster's son who saw him, notified the police. The truck, however, was quickly loaded and ready to start for Martinsville and was followed by another automobile containing Town Sergeant Pringle and Constables Phillips, Williams and Lancaster. The truck was out of town escape through the sudden rise of Spoon creek and as the truck was being driven back it encountered the officers. Manley observing them, jumped from the truck and ran and the officers are said to have opened fire on him. Some of the bullets are said to have passed close to S. B. Shelton's house causing some fright. The officers reaching the place where they last saw Manley, found him lying on the ground and the bullets are said to have passed close to S. B. Shelton's house causing some fright. The officers reaching the place where they last saw Manley, found him lying on the ground and the bullets are said to have passed close to S. B. Boats Are Being Used as Means of Transportation—Wood Held Up by the Storm.

(By The Associated Press) MANILA, June 30.—Manila, gripped by a typhoon which began last night, was flooded today. Many streets were under water. Opening Date Is Pleasing To Trade

September 25th designated by the Tobacco Association of the United States as the date for the opening of the Danville market will meet with general approval among the warehousemen and dealers in Danville. Last year the Danville market opened on October 3rd and in many quarters the belief was expressed that Danville had lost the lead through this late beginning of the season. Mr. Nelson said that he thought that September 25th would be satisfactory to the trade generally. It now remains for the Danville Tobacco Association to meet and ratify this date. At the last annual meeting it was decided to forego fixing an opening date in order that the progress of the crop could be observed and the opening of the market gauged more intelligently to the season. Mr. Nelson expressed the belief that there would be no effort to change the date set by the tobacco men who today terminated their annual convention at Asheville, N. C. The basket committee of the Danville Tobacco Association has about decided not to buy the two thousand additional baskets which it was thought some months ago would be necessary to take care of the deliveries here. John Bustard, secretary of the association said this morning that he did not now think that the purchase would be necessary as the crop probably will be shorter than was anticipated on account of the recent dry season.

Bond Issue Opponents Plan Mandamus Proceedings Soon

The contest growing out of the proposal to issue $350,000 of the bonds of the city as a means of providing funds for the extension, enlargement and improvement of local educational plants is ended so far as the electoral phase of the matter goes; but it can be stated on excellent authority that the opposition will now be transferred to the courts. In fact, it has been definitely stated that over the bonds are authorized to be prepared and put on the market for sale, application will be made to one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia for a writ of mandamus or an injunction, as a means of testing Judge Withers' decision that the bond issue was affirmatively approved within the meaning and the authority conferred by the law under which the election was held. In this connection, it may be said, or at least it has been asserted that at least two Danville judges and a third from another city, have ruled differently from the decision of Judge Withers in holding that the bond issue was carried, despite the fact that it did not receive the affirmative approval of a majority of all the qualified freeholders, included those who did not vote. In a word, the contention of the opponents of the pending bond issue is that a negative approval, such as is involved in the approval of the

Graham, Jr., North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture, is in a local hospital suffering from injuries he is alleged to have received in a fight with John Reinhardt, son of the late State Senator Reinhardt, at a church festival last Sunday night. DRIVERS APPEAR BEFORE CORPORATION COMMISSION

RICHMOND, Va., June 29.—Petitioners for permits and licenses to operate auto bus lines in Virginia had an all-day session with the State Corporation Commission Wednesday. The forenoon session was devoted to the consideration of the cases in which lines had been in operation prior to February 28, they having the right of way by reason of the fact that they were established, and they were given the required permits. That competition was keen in many cases was made manifest, especially in the valley, where five concerns were eager for the right to cater to the public at so much per head—Staunton to Winchester.

"UNDERTAKER OF WALL ST." SAYS ONLY ONE OUT OF TEN WINS

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
(Special to The Bee.)

NEW YORK, June 30.—The "undertaker of Wall Street"—Harold P. Coffin, federal referee in bankruptcy, gives these tips:

"If you play the market and gamble in stocks, the odds are nine to one against you making any money. Only one out of every 10 speculators comes out ahead; while from the very beginning the other nine are doomed to lose."

Coffin, who has occupied the spotlight during the recent explosive series of Wall Street failures, which brought several official investigations, gave his warning to prospective "lamb" in an interview with NEA Service.

These figures of the speculator's slim chances were supplied, Coffin said, by William S. Silkworth, just resigned as president of the Council of Stock Exchanges as the result of the exchange coming under the fire of city, state and federal agencies working to clean up Wall Street.

The toll of disaster in Wall Street has become so heavy that Coffin, and his associates are working overtime trying to keep up with what he calls his job of financial "undertaker."

"About 2,000 bankruptcy cases are pending right now," Coffin says, "and the most important of them are brokerage firm failures."

The bankruptcy referee is the fourth agency engaged in the big war on bankruptcies. The others are the city district attorney's office, prosecuting criminal cases against the general, operating under the Martin act to "padlock" offending firms; and the United States district attorney, handling mail frauds.

All of them are coordinating their work to open the back door of Wall Street. But it was Coffin who is credited with applying the wedge that pried it open.

He did it with a 50-word order issued to the principals of E. M. Fuller & Co., first of the large brokerage houses to fail in the recent wave of financial crashes. The order directed the receiver of the bankrupt concern to turn over all books and records to the company without reservation.

As a result, Fuller and his partner, W. Frank McGee, are now in the Ludlow street jail under federal commitment for contempt of court, and are under sentence to serve one year and three months in Sing Sing Prison when they are released.

"A new precedent was set in the prosecution of these cases," says Coffin. "Too often charges were made that brokers, failing and going into bankruptcy, sought refuge from prosecution by hiding their books."

"It was an attempt to defeat the ends of justice, and had to be stopped," Coffin stopped it. The fight against his order was carried to the United States Supreme Court but Chief Justice Taft upheld it.

Liabilities of 132 firms that have gone into bankruptcy in the last year and a half total $96,054,049.

"Country folk are very numerous among creditors of bankrupt brokerage houses," says Coffin. "They are more gullible than the city investors, more trusting and as a result, more easily fleeced."

"It has been a practice of some of the less reputable houses to engage some enterprising young man who stands well in his community, and make him their agent. His name and personality lend prestige to the business, and the crooked firms capitalize on it."

"The chief trouble with most investors is that they seem to be ashamed of playing the financial game. They do not go to the banks for advice and credit. They do not seek the counsel of their friends. They feel that the whole business is something shady, something that shouldn't be talked about, except in whispers."

"As a result they are easily imposed upon and fleeced. Then they blame their medicine silently and therefore it is harder to punish the men who victimized them."

"It is our job to protect the first investors' interests when the first sign of trouble appears. We try to save as much from the wreckage as possible. Yet rarely do we ever have a creditor pieced at our investigations."

SUN YAT SEN'S FIGHT BECOMES GUERRILLA WAR

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
SHANGHAI, June 29.—Sun Yat Sen's fight for constitutionalism in Canton has failed and the fight has degenerated into the same form of guerrilla warfare existing in other parts of China according to reports received in Shanghai. Two main parties are involved, but each party has broken up into factions, and there are at least a dozen military leaders in the field, all fighting against each other.

Military interests now control Canton where they are selling temples, religious property, public buildings and even school property to raise funds for the warfare.

Private steamers are confiscated and thousands of coolies are being drafted to transport war supplies. Land is being sold to pay taxes for years in advance and there are other forms of extortion.

William C. McLaughlin, located at Haichow, Kiangsu province, where he is a sailing vessel, is sailing home to America today to urge Washington to take action for the protection of about 100 American missionaries located in the bandit district of Kiangsu. He said American missionaries located in the districts from twelve to thirty years have converted about 10,000 to Christianity.

Liquid Lines Lead To Arrest

The conformation of the body of the genus homo is a constant source of delight to the aesthetically inclined; the ancient Greek immortalized the human form in painting, sculpture and verse. It always has been and probably always will be the never-ending study of artists, and—policemen.

It is easy to recall when the short skirt came into vogue that there sprung into existence a school of specialists and none was so unsophisticated as not to be cognizant of the potency of curves and roundness. But to return to policemen:

As a class they study mankind; they make it a point to classify his moods and peccadilloes, and if there is anything out of normal in bodily conformation, the fact is catalogued for immediate or future use.

Yesterday two policemen put to good use their habit of careful scrutiny of human lines and curves. Mrs. Maude Fitts of Schoolfield was the subject of their regard. She is a somewhat smallish person, and normally of inconspicuous proportions. But yesterday it was noted that she had assumed the proportions of a pouter pigeon, carrying herself proudly as a person of some importance. In other words she was cheery. To officers Dameron and Maberry this didn't look just right; they couldn't figure it out right off the bat, but what was amiss, but of this they were certain, her figure did not conform to her usual appearance. There were liquid curves about her that looked too good to be true.

At the time the officers first saw her she was riding in a taxi. The car was stopped and the woman was told to step forth. There was an ominous heaving of the breast, a sort of tidal wave of anger that resolved itself into a distinctly audible gurgle as she stepped to the pavement.

It was this gurgle that decided the officers and she was taken to police headquarters where her bodily conformity was subjected to a more critical examination. There came a time when all the spirits seemed to be taken out of the woman, she appeared dejected.

It is explained when two hot water bags filled with liquor, bulbous brassieres, were removed. She protested, but to no avail.

Like all women it appears that she could not overlook any opportunity to improve her beauty, she combined her utilitarian designs, cunningly, camouflaged, with a well-conceived plan of adding to the symmetry of her curves. Her bust construction, alone the fact that man and especially however, did not take into consideration were serious students of the human form.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSSES

The Daily Vacation School of Religion which has been conducted at Mt. Vernon Methodist Church for the past several weeks came to a close yesterday morning with the separate exercises of the various departments. The Sunday schools of Main Street Methodist, Disciples, First Baptist and Mt. Vernon joined in conducting the school.

An interesting closing exercise program was conducted and proved of much interest to the audience, largely composed of the parents of the children of the several Sunday schools. After the exercises the parents were given the opportunity to examine the exhibits of manual work done by the children.

JOSEPH H. JONES DIES AT HOME IN LOUISVILLE

Robert W. Jones, of this city, was apprised by telegraph yesterday of the death at his home in Louisville, Ky., of Joseph H. Jones, his elder brother. Owing to indisposition of his own family, Mr. Jones was unable to go to Louisville to attend the funeral and burial of his brother.

The deceased was a native of Lynchburg, Va., and a son of the late Edmund W. and Alice Williams Jones and spent his childhood, youth and young manhood in his native city, where he is widely and prominently related. He is survived by his wife, who was before her marriage Miss Morrow. Mr. Jones was an uncle of J. B. Heard, of this city.

WILL GO EASY ON ARRESTS FOR USING WRONG LENSES

Squire Fitts of Schoolfield said yesterday in regard to the kind of lenses that automobiles had to use that he would not fine any one for having the wrong sort until a more definite ruling on the matter had been promulgated. As the matter stands at present no one is quite certain just what kind or kinds of lenses have been approved.

Mrs. Daisy White Hamlin of Norfolk is spending the month with her mother, Mrs. R. W. White, Grove street.

SPLENDID WORK OF FIREMEN AT SCHOOLFIELD

Excellent work of the Schoolfield fire department probably prevented a disastrous fire last night in two Schoolfield places of business. A gasoline stove in the hot dog stand of Gus James, a Greek, exploded and set fire to the building. The flames quickly spread to the store of F. A. Dix. The fire department was called and quickly responded, soon having the fire under control. Considerable damage was done by water. Both the buildings are frame and would have burned easily had not the fire department handled the fire with skill.

Dr. House Tells How Scopolamin Induces The Truth

Eliminates Thinking and Reasoning—Hearing Only Sense Left—Reacts on Sole Function, Memory.

NEW YORK, June 30.—That scopolamin, completely inhibiting the mind, producing unconsciousness and a quiet brain while allowing the centre of hearing to function, is the basis of "truth extraction" from criminals, is the assertion of Dr. R. E. House of Ferris, Tex., who used the drug Wednesday in a series of sensational experiments upon prisoners in the San Quentin, Cal., penitentiary.

In the reports from the prison after the drug had been administered one man was proved innocent of murder, a second admitted a crime and a third revealed his identity. Upon the circulation of the report of these experiments a division occurred among scientists and physicians, some upholding the contention the drug would cause true revelations, others rejecting the claim.

Scopolamin is the drug used in the so-called twilight sleep method of childbirth, which has been met by hostility from some branches of the medical profession ever since its importation to this country from Germany before the war. It has, nevertheless, taken firm hold in one hospital after another and its growth into general use seems assured.

Dr. House, who has projected scopolamin into a new channel—differentiates its use in the "harmless third degree" from its manner of employment in childbirth. In writing of the actions of the drug upon men charged with crime he says:

"I most earnestly request the readers of the article not to confound the technique required for obstetrics with the method advised to be followed in criminal work. In obstetrics, you only attempt to alleviate pain. If you made a woman as drunk as you would stop for a while her pains.

"The objects of using scopolamin in criminology is to inhibit the mind, its stored events, its memory—consequently they should be made totally unconscious to produce an absolutely quiet brain. To completely destroy every appreciation of their environment, to eliminate the vestige of the will, the power to make it impossible for them to even think, dream, or reason, such patients are only completely scopolaminized.

"Upon such patients I have proven clinically that the centre of hearing is the first centre to function. The centre of feeling is next. The centre of smelling is last. Also, the centre of hearing makes the other four centres subservient and, furthermore, the centre of hearing can make the other four centres function before the special nerve to each of the four centres can make its own centre function.

"When the centre of hearing is stimulated, it manifests itself only in its stored events, viz.: Memory. Hence the auditory centre is able to call into play whatever association neurons are required to complete the answer to a question asked.

"When a person is too intoxicated to reason or think, it should be easy to see why the answer comes like the knee jerk, automatically, and not from the control of the will power.

"The fact that a subject does not remember when he wakes up, to any questions asked nor any answers to any question he gave should invite confidence in the function of scopolamin.

"The explanation for so many failures with the so-called truth serum (a misnomer like twilight sleep) is because a state of obstetrical anaesthesia only was induced, and the (House's) receptive stage was never produced from a lack of sufficient drug, or the making of questions too long to be retained and understood.

"The criminal test will only be successful in the receptive stage. This condition of the mind is first observed when the reflex arc is established. In physics, this phenomenon is called the Bell Magunil law of condition."

June Traffic Report Shows More Pinched

James C. Elliott, police secretary, has just completed a report of traffic violations during the month of June, which shows that during the past thirty days, sixty-one cases of traffic violations in the various forms came up in the police court for trial. The will and the reflex arc are established. In physics, this phenomenon is called the Bell Magunil law of condition."

Comparing these figures with last month, May, the fines imposed amounted to nearly three hundred dollars more than the former month. In May on thirty-six traffic violations came up and the total amount of fines was $718.60.

The comparison indicates the activity of the traffic officers in putting further efforts into their work in curbing violations. At present they are waging a campaign against such offenders, having announced their purpose of getting the traffic as smooth running as possible.

Celebrate Landing Of First Regulars At Fort Monroe

(By The Associated Press)

NEWPORT NEWS, June 29.—Nearly six hundred young men attending the R. O. T. C. and C. M. T. C. joined with the officers and men at Fort Monroe and many civilians from the various sections of the Virginia peninsula today in celebrating the centennial anniversary of the landing of the first regular troops of the United States Army at Fort Monroe, accounted the largest and most important coast artillery station in the entire world today.

The story of the century of the splendid post was related by Congressman S. Otis Bland, Harry R. Houston, General William R. Smith and Colonel James F. Howell and the occasion will go down into army history as probably the most important event since Fort Monroe was first made an army reservation.

The celebration today was featured by a ceremony which consumed the entire morning, embracing a salute, an inspection of the troops, a review of the anti-aircraft and motor transportation units, visit to the camps, visit to the coast artillery schools, the fine library and concluding the exercises in the Liberty Theatre, which aroused the greatest enthusiasm among the spectators and the young men in the camps, as well as those splendidly uniformed young men and officers who make up the regular army unit at Old Point. In fact the exercises were imposing as they closed a period of one hundred years of tremendous development.

The celebration was a modest army post in 1823. Fort Monroe has continued to grow until the hundredth anniversary found her to be the largest, best equipped, best officered and manned post in any section of the world today.

The main object of the regular army are training the young men to take their places and those who witnessed the ceremonies today must have been swollen with intense patriotism and loyalty to the accomplishments of the army as told by the various speakers.

While the celebration was a military affair in every way, it served to bring before the people of this section the other big things of this section can be counted the greatest army post of the country.

Every detail of the celebration was successfully carried out. General William R. Smith, commanding the third artillery district; Colonel James B. Howell, commanding the Chesapeake Bay Coast Defense; Colonel J. C. Johnson, commanding the artillery school; Colonel A. J. Mackay, commanding the coast artillery school; and all other officers came in for praise from those who attended and witnessed the exercises commemorating the closing of a century of service as a protection to the United States by Fort Monroe.

Ashburner's Pay To Set a Record

NORFOLK, June 30.—The salary of $20,000 which Stockton, Cal., will pay Charles E. Ashburner, who goes there from Norfolk September 1, will be twice that received by any other city manager in the United States. His successor more than $10,000 per year.

Mr. Ashburner's present salary of $14,000 is $4,000 more than that being paid the chief executive in any of the several scores of American cities under this form of government, according to statistics gleaned from the yearbook of the City Manager's association.

Cleveland, Ohio may be a possible exception to the statements made above for it is a city of more than 700,000 inhabitants. However, when the yearbook was printed, the salary of Cleveland's city manager had not been fixed.

With the exception of Norfolk, Stockton, and possibly Cleveland, $10,000 is the top salary of city managers of the United States.

Akron, Ohio, with 208,000 population, pays $7,500; Houston, Texas, with 138,000 pays $5,000; Grand Rapids, Mich., with 137,000 people, pays its city manager $6,000.

The high salary city managers are found in California and Virginia. Study of salary data in the yearbook shows. Pasadena and Sacramento, Cal., each pay $10,000; Long Beach and San Diego, pay $7,500; and San Francisco, $6,400 respectively. Most of these four cities, it was noted, have larger populations than has Stockholm.

In Virginia, both Lynchburg and Petersburg pay $10,000, and Portsmouth, $8,500. As a contrast to this there is Dayton, Ohio, a city of approximately the same size as Norfolk, which pays only $5,400.

Bus Lines Getting Popular In Virginia

Jesse W. Benton has returned from Richmond where he appeared before the State Corporation Commission to secure a certificate of charter for J. C. Gilley and M. T. Gilley who operate a bus line between Danville and Leesville.

Mr. Benton who secured the promise of a charter without contest, reported that the hearing before the commission was a field day for the bus line companies and revealed to what extent this mode of travel in Virginia is becoming popular. At least 75 applications were made. The last General Assembly enacted a bill making all bus lines responsible to the state corporation commission and it is necessary for applications to be made for charters now that the act is operative. Lines which have been in operation for a year already were assured of a charter as a matter of right and in such instances the railway companies offered no protest.

New concerns, however, found that the established transportation companies were actively hostile and sought to prevent charters being issued. The burden of the railway companies' arguments was that they had invested large capital in their respective fields that they had been established for years and that there was not sufficient room for the successful operation of the railway companies in competition with the bus

Good Morning Judge!

When a free-for-all battle with bricks, fence railings, knives and what not takes place, and half a dozen or more are involved, it is sometimes hard to ascertain just who should be convicted, but after taking evidence of a knock-down and drag-out fracas which occurred on the notorious Newton street last night, Mayor Wooding this morning decided on fines of $5.00 for all the participants, and as many of them as were caught. Those made to pay the six bucks and accessories were Percy Harston, Stag Lee, Annie Morehead, Sarah Morton, Lucy Wilson, Napoleon Willie, Lillie Wilson and Booker Carr. Quite a number of others appeared as witnesses and testified that their presence on the street at the scene resulted in brick bats striking them.

The call last night was answered by Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolman George Price. When the officers arrived they did not see the combatants in action but the scene was one that left no impression other than that there had been a violent battle. The trouble seemed to be between the Wilsons and Harston. One of the Wilson women charged that when a whole yard was there, Sarah Morton chose her to expectorate on. When she passed the house last night, she called her all manner of bad names, and the two were soon into it. Others appeared, apparently from nowhere, and soon a large crowd was in the fracas, with the above-stated results. It was a tangled up affair and each side had a different version of the Reynolds' arrested this morning by Sergeant J. H. Martin and O. W. Bates with six pint bottles of white lightning, was fined $51 and costs. Sergeant Martin claimed it was a revengeful offense, but the others dated beyond the period allowed, more than four years ago. At that time Reynolds served a year in the pen on liquor charges.

Henry Hunt fined eleven dollars and costs for an alleged assault on James Yarbrough.

Calvin Gunnell, charged with violating Mapp Act, dismissed.

H. B. Jegries, violating parking ordinance, dismissed.

L. C. Macdonald was not present to answer a charge of not having proper lights on his car.

Ulysses Gausney, colored, fined $5 and costs for failing to pay his dog tax.

Governor Morrison Commutes Convicts

(By The Associated Press)

RALEIGH, N. C., June 29.—Carrying out the duties of the new state regulations which provide for the abolition of the whip and the setting up of a system of rewards for good behavior, Governor Morrison today commuted to indeterminate sentences the terms of 925 convicts at the state prison. This does not include 206 prisoners who are already serving indeterminate sentences nor the dozen or more who are serving life sentences.

Under the commutation plan of the governor, prisoners who have served less than one-half of their sentences get one-fourth of their remaining time off. Those who have served more than one-half of their sentences get a third off their remaining time.

Paternity Case Settled Out Of Indiana Courts

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

LA PORTE, Ind., June 30.—Financial settlement out of court suddenly ended the Hasse-Sherrern paternity case today, to the disappointment of court fans, who were all primed for county and still another change non-Poulin case in South Bend recently.

The suit was brought by Arnold Hasse, aged 45, of Hammond, Ind., against George Sherer, wealthy 57-year-old attorney and church member of the same town, for $20,000, charging alienation of his wife's affections. He also charged Sherer with being the father of a child born to Mrs. Hasse. In June, 1921, Hasse was granted a divorce after, as he claims, he discovered that he was not the father of the last born child. The other three children were given into his custody.

In the suit which suddenly ended today, Hasse says that during the divorce proceedings, Mrs. Hasse admitted that Sherer is the father of her boy, Clarence, born June 20, 1920. The suit was filed in Lake county, but a change of venue took it to Porter a repetition of the malodorous Tier-brought it here.

A jury had been selected and the trial was about to begin when Hasse's three attorneys asked for a continuance and then went into conference with Sherer's attorneys. At its close, announcement was made of a private settlement. No amount was made public but there are hints that Sherer will pay Hasse $10,000 and all court and attorney fees.

Fire Damages Big Mess Hall

(By The Associated Press)

NEWPORT NEWS, June 29.—The immense main mess hall, in which the members of the National Soldiers Home at Hampton are fed daily, was damaged to the extent of probably $15,000 by a fire this afternoon, the origin of which had not been determined by the authorities of the big institution tonight.

Of the staunchest firemen of the community have fought in several years. The departments from Hampton, Phoebus and Fort Monroe joined in with the firemen of the Home in fighting the flames, and it required several hours of hard work, during which a number of the firemen were overcome by smoke, before the blaze was finally subdued.

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

CHICAGO, June 30.—A dilapidated automobile in which were a man and a woman, today ran down an unidentified girl about nine years old. Before any of the rapidly gathering crowd could prevent, the man leaped out, threw the unconscious and bleeding child into the machine and sped away. He promised to take the little victim to the nearest drug store, but did not go so and although rigid search has been made in all directions, no trace of the automobile, its occupants or the child has been found. Spectators say the child was struck with such force that her injuries must have been fatal. It is feared that the driver of the car found he had killed the child and that he and the woman have disposed of her body by throwing it into the lake, or in some out of the way place. People who witnessed the accident, say the car bore no license plate or other means of identification. Efforts to identify the girl also have failed so far, as no parents have reported a missing child of that description.

DANVILLE TOBACCO MARKET TO BE OPENED ON SEPTEMBER 25TH

(By The Associated Press)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 29.—"Great Britain practically has resumed its position as the leading nation of the world, which leadership was voluntarily relinquished by the United States in refusing to become a member of the League of Nations," R. L. McKellar, of Louisville, Ky., foreign representative of the Southern Railway declared in addressing the Tobacco Association of the United States at the annual banquet tonight.

Re-election of T. M. Carrington of Richmond as president for the twenty-fourth consecutive year, and recommendations as to the opening of the sales season in the Bright Tobacco Markets were the outstanding business features.

After considerable discussion, with both warehouse men and buyers taking part, it was finally agreed to recommend that the auction sales in bright tobacco markets begin August 1 in South Carolina; August 2 in Georgia; August 21 in eastern North Carolina from Raleigh east, and September 25 in the old belt territory, including Danville, Va., Winston Salem, N. C., and Durham, N. C.

The committee made no recommendations as to the Kentucky Tennessee, Indiana and West Virginia markets as they are not included in the bright market territory.

The officers elected in addition to the president are as follows: W. T. Clark, Wilson, N. C., first vice president; W. T. Reed, Richmond, Va.; second vice president and J. O'Brien, Louisville, Ky., third president.

To the Citizens of Danville and Surrounding Section

There was a rumor started a few days ago that the Health Department of North Carolina had condemned the water at Park Springs.

Some person or persons did this through spite or jealousy, and we wish to notify the patrons of our place that it is absolutely FALSE. Our Lake covers 5 1-2 acres of sand and gray soil. We have five springs in the lake and it is fed by 19 more. Our spill-way shows 2 1-2 inches in a 12-inch vein all the time. But as a safe guard to our patrons we cut off our water at 10 o'clock each night, holding all the water that comes in the lake until 9 o'clock next morning. We then let this water out, 150,000 gallons. This 150,000 gallons of water takes away all the staleness or any trash accumulated the day before, giving our patrons nice clean fresh spring water to bathe in each day.

Our place is open for inspection at any time.

Churches, Sunday Schools and Fraternal Orders are invited to hold their picnics at our place.

THE FOURTH OF JULY WILL BE A BIG DAY WITH US. COME!

SLURS DEAD OF CONFEDERACY; LEAVES FOR OHIO

(By The Associated Press)

EUFaula, Ala., June 29.—An indignation meeting was called in Eufaula tonight for the purpose of protesting letters written by Mrs. Lillie Maugans, postmistress of Eufaula, in which it is alleged a slur was cast upon the honored dead of the Confederacy. The letters were published in Ohio and Eufaula newspapers. According to D. M. Bran, non chief of police at Eufaula, the mass meeting was called by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Federated Women's Club, the Daughters of the American Revolution and virtually every organization in the city.

The letter which Mrs. Maugans wrote, according to P. A. Daugherty, city clerk of Eufaula, contained a slur on the "Confederate dead who lie under the soil of the Southland and everywhere." Mrs. Maugans recently went to the national cemetery at Andersonville, he said, where some one sometime before had painted one of the tombstones a bright yellow. She is said to have remarked in the printed letter that such a color was "very appropriate to the Confederate cause."

When asked where Mrs. Maugans was and if she would be present at the meeting, the chief of police replied: "She just left the city a few minutes ago in an automobile for Ohio, therefore she will not be at the mass meeting tonight."

Not a Single Tragedy on Broadway Says James Dean

(By James W. Dean)

NEW YORK, June 30.—About the time this is printed Earl Carroll's "Vanities of 1933" will have been presented to Broadway. And that's just about all the news there is to report on the radio this week. Flo Ziegfeld unfolded a summer edition of the Follies the other evening and although the girls wear as little as the law permits, they still seek a breath of fresh air on the fire escapes between numbers.

The new Follies and the new Vanities are revues. The Scandals and the Passing Show are also revues. There is distinction between them, but it lies largely in the manner and amount of clothes the girls wear. And when you're working in cold black type that passes through the mails you can hardly make these distinctions clear.

And Shubert hangs some of their porcelain beauties on a chandelier and George White hangs his to a curtain. And there's one distinction. Earl Carroll's show will have as famous Peggy Joyce with a million dollars worth of jewels on her. Some of the other girls in the show will not be wearing nearly a million dollars worth.

Alexander Leftwich will install the "Fashion of 1933" in the Luceor next month. If he tries to outdo the Shuberts, Ziegfeld, Carroll and White, it may be hazardous for a correspondent even to mention the show.

And if an honest working girl seeking relief from the heat at a bathing beach were to dress as some of these revue girls they'd be censured and censured.

But, then, it's hotter on Broadway than on there's a little study in psychology. Of the 31 shows trying to eke out an existence through the dog days on Broadway not one is a tragedy. Evidently only the "lurkers" enjoy tragedy. But hardly any tragedy would heat the blood so much as these summer revues!

Reserve Banks Cannot Accept Checks Over Par

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Extending the Federal Reserve Bank collection arrangement, the Federal Reserve Board, in a ruling announced tonight, prohibited the Federal Reserve Banks in the future "from receiving on deposit or for collection checks drawn on banks which demand a fee for collection."

By the same ruling, the Board required the banks to make a collection charge not exceeding one-tenth of one per cent. on checks which bear the endorsement of, or are drawn by, "any bank which is not a member bank," which refuses to remit "at par."

With the announcement, the Board issued a formal statement of its policy respecting the par clearance of checks in which it declared that banks which did not participate in the par collection arrangement should not be allowed to benefit from it. The arrangement, the statement asserted, is purely voluntary and based upon a system of reciprocity and in view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, it is certain the Federal Reserve Banks cannot pay exchange.

In explaining its position, the Board said it regarded the creation of the Reserve system as in the interest of all commercial and banking establishments of the country, and that the membership of the system now numbers 92 per cent. of all banking institutions and about 98 per cent. of the total banking resources of the country. To those the statement declared the par collection plan had become a "necessary instrumentality" in effecting exchanges.

"Its operation," the statement continued, including the final payments through the gold settlement fund, has been of inestimable value and has resulted in an enormous saving to those actively engaged in carrying on the commerce of the country. There are no other facilities for operating a collection system which could approximate it in economy of operation. It has eliminated a very large portion of the time formerly consumed in the collection of checks and has cut down the cost of making the country's exchange to a minimum.

"Even though an involuntary collection system may not be imposed on the Federal Reserve Banks by the Federal Reserve Act, as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in its recent decision, the system has fully justified its operation and is of such value to the banking and commercial interests of the country that its continuance as a voluntary system is of vital importance. Certain changes in the basis of the par clearance system are advisable in view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court.

"The board believes that participation in the par clearance system should be based upon the principle of reciprocity and that hereafter Federal Reserve Banks should not receive for collection checks on any non-member bank which will not agree to remit in acceptable funds without deduction. The recent decision of the Supreme Court makes it certain that the Federal Reserve Banks are not permitted by law to pay the exchange. It must be clear that the more inclusive a collection system is the more efficient it will be and the greater will be the service it can render alike to the business and banking community. Therefore, since it is the objection of the Federal Reserve Board to maintain an efficient Reserve Board to maintain an efficient system of par collection which must at the same time be a voluntary system as far as non-member banks are concerned, the concession should be made and received by all participating banks. It is clear that those non-member banks which are unwilling to remit without deduction for checks drawn on themselves have no right to share in the advantages of the par collection system.

"The Federal Reserve Board, therefore in the exercise of its legal authority has amended regulation J, series of 1920 in such a way as to prohibit any Federal Reserve Bank from receiving on deposit or for collection any check drawn on any non-member bank which refuses to remit at par. It is hereby declared that the Federal Reserve Banks to make a collection charge for their services in collecting checks which bear the endorsement of any non-member bank or are drawn by or for any non-member bank. It is further declared that par in acceptable funds such collection charge to be at a rate not to exceed one-tenth of one per cent."

Garrett Admitted To Bail Of $25,000 In E. S. Pierce Case

(By The Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., June 29.—Robert O. Garrett, clerk of the Cumberland County Circuit Court, indicted jointly with his brother, Larkin C. Garrett, Cumberland County Commissioner, for the murder of Rev. E. S. Pierce, at the Baptist Parsonage at Cumberland Court House June 5, was admitted to bail in the sum of $25,000 late today by Judge B. D. White, following a hearing in the local circuit court. Garrett was protected at St. Elizabeth's hospital, where Garrett is undergoing treatment for a pistol wound received in the shooting affair in which his brother was slain. Judge White, after the hearing in the circuit court, after the capias issued for Garrett following his indictment, today had been served on Garrett. Garrett was present at the hearing, which was presided over by William M. Justice of defense counsel while Commonwealth's Attorney Milton P. Bonifant and Special Prosecutor Richard Evelyn Burdick protested that there were no circumstances to warrant the release of Garrett on bond. Both prosecutors insisted upon a continuance of the hearing to give them time to prepare a new case. Judge White, however, said that Garrett was not entitled to bail, stating that they had no notice of today's hearing until a short time before it convened.

Judge White held, however, that the defendant was entitled to bail and fixed the same bond as was fixed in the case of Larkin Garrett late Tuesday. Court and counsel, tired by a group of newspapermen, then went to the hospital where the bond was read to Garrett as he lay upon his bed. The bond was signed by A. S. White as sureties and a provision of Judge White. It is returnable at the special session of the circuit court of Cumberland County to be held on July 26, when the Garretts will be called to trial.

LIONS PROPOSE FATHERS DAY

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 29.—Resolutions were adopted by the International Lions today urging observance of "father's day" on October 3rd each year, by presidential proclamation. The member clubs will start a drive in their respective communities to arouse public sentiment for the plan. The convention approved resolutions pledging the organization to aid in the drive against the drug evil; greater interest in child welfare work and more impression ceremonies in the naturalization of allies. Omaha won over Columbus, Ohio for next year's convention after a spirited campaign.

Ratification Of Naval Treaty Is Asked of Chamber

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, June 29.—In conformity with article eight of the French constitution, concerning the powers of the legislative executive in the ratification of treaties, the government today deposited with the Chamber of Deputies a bill asking for ratification of that part of the Washington naval agreement which deals with the protection of neutrals on the high seas and the use of asphyxiating gas in war time.

The measure, which is signed by the president of the Republic, the premier and the ministers of foreign affairs, justice, finance, war, marine and public works who are "entrusted with the task of presenting it and sustaining it before the chamber, calls for only one reservation, namely, that the treaty should not be interpreted as modifying rules previously established between the signatory powers concerning surface ships, or as imposing upon submarines navigating in conformity with such rules a regime other than that applied to surface ships."

Article one of the bill reads: "The president of the Republic is authorized to ratify and have executed, if need be, the treaty signed at Washington, February 6, 1922, between France, the United States of America, the British Empire, Italy and Japan, relative to the protection upon the seas in war times of the lives of the neutrals and non-combatants and the use of asphyxiating gases in war."

The government announces that "it is desirous above all, to proclaim the principles of humanity to which all civilized nations should subscribe and which inspired the resignations adopted as Washington upon the generous initiative of Elihu Root," but that, on the other hand, anxious to furnish Parliament with all explanations necessary, the government has inserted in the bill an article designed to prevent errors in the interpretation of the Washington treaty.

Ratification of the bill will take its regular place on the chamber agenda. While there is no chance of its coming up for discussion before the July recess, the French signatures of the Washington treaty, former Premier Briand, and M. Sarraute, feel that the first effective step toward ratification of the treaty has been made.

M. Briand has made it known that he will lend the government all assistance possible to secure ratification of the bill.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 29.—Indictments charging violation of the Volstead act were returned against 22 men by the Federal grand jury today in connection with alleged illegal withdrawals of 4,900 cases of Scotch whisky and 235 cases of champagne from the Republic Storage Co., on May 28.

The indictments charge the withdrawal was accomplished with false papers bearing the forged official signature of S. T. Townsend, deputy collector of customs of the Port of New York and also alleges the removal was for the purpose of defrauding the government out of duties and taxes due on foreign made liquor, the liquor being valued at more than $500,000, it was said.

DEGREES EASY AT UNIVERSITY

(By The Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., June 29.—Officers of the Oriental University, Inc., were ordered by Judge R. Carter Scott, of City Circuit Court today, to appear at the fall term of the court to show cause why the charter under which the institution has operated in Virginia, should not be revoked. Revocation of the charter was asked by Attorney General Saunders. Quo warranto proceedings were instituted earlier in the week at the request of Attorney General Daugherty. Miss Pearl McCall, assistant attorney general of the United States, was an interested spectator at the hearing. Miss McCall has charge of the prosecution of Helmut P. Holter, president of the University, who is under indictment under a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with an alleged international swindling scheme.

None of the officers of the university was present at the hearing today. —Mrs. Josephine Holcombe is visiting relatives in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Men Connected With Fight Go To Great Falls

By LAWRENCE PERRY.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee)

SHELBY, Mont., June 29.—Financial, fight promoters and scribes made an early exodus from this city today. With all the alluring emotions of the wayfarer bound for Ellysur, they are going to Great Falls which has become the nerve center of everything pertaining to the Dempsey-Gibbons battle, excepting, of course, the fight itself.

In Great Falls, are all the comforts and luxuries of modern life. Here are the good old days of song and story—with up-to-the-minute exercises—in which only the throw back finds himself at home and at ease.

With no fall guys to prey upon, the prattlers of various secrets who came here are trying to do one another and the comedy is rare. The game of "dog eat dog" never had a more concrete expression. And think of trying to stick up a fighter's manager—That's what happened to Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager last night. The happy coincidence of a gang of Calgary cowboys "sauntering down the upper reaches of Main street saved Eddie's roll and his wife's jewelry.

Montanans say that this hectic burg should be prized as a sudden and altogether phenomenal resurrection of the old west from the limbo of legend to the plane of actuality. They hold that it should be the more valuable inasmuch as it was perishing even more swiftly than it arose the day after the big fight, never again to return. It depends upon one's taste whether or not he cares a continental as to the brevity of Shelby's present state of existence, but no visitor will regret his experience of the place, after he has departed finally and this town has sunk in its own mud into oblivion.

Dirt, slim, the pervading odor of wood smoke tinged by the smell of camp fire grease, cow punches, hi-jackers, drifters, scrux and black feet Indians, gamblers, oil witches, rock hounds, oil riggers, pick pockets, stick men, prize fighters, stock raisers—everything here combines in the distillation of the essence of seventy-five bygone years. Add to this the distinctive features of a Coney Island side street and you get a human hell-broth that confounds the mind and dazes the senses.

The loudest among many loud sounds here last night was the utterance of joy uttered by a wholesome blond woman of uncertain years who came here to sing in a dance hall and found it closed. Her exultation was occasioned by the telegraphic receipt of funds sufficient to take her home to Kansas City.

"And when I get there," she said "they can chain me to the steps of the City Hall. I'll be so glad to see old KC, mizoo that home sweet home from now on will be my only refuge."

Solly Harris, who subsists on the services of a single prize fighter, Jack Thompson, saw some birds today and asked what they were. "Prairie chickens," was the reply. "Can they fly?" he asked. "You bet they can, a long distance." "Then why don't they?" sighed little Solly of Mulberry Bend.

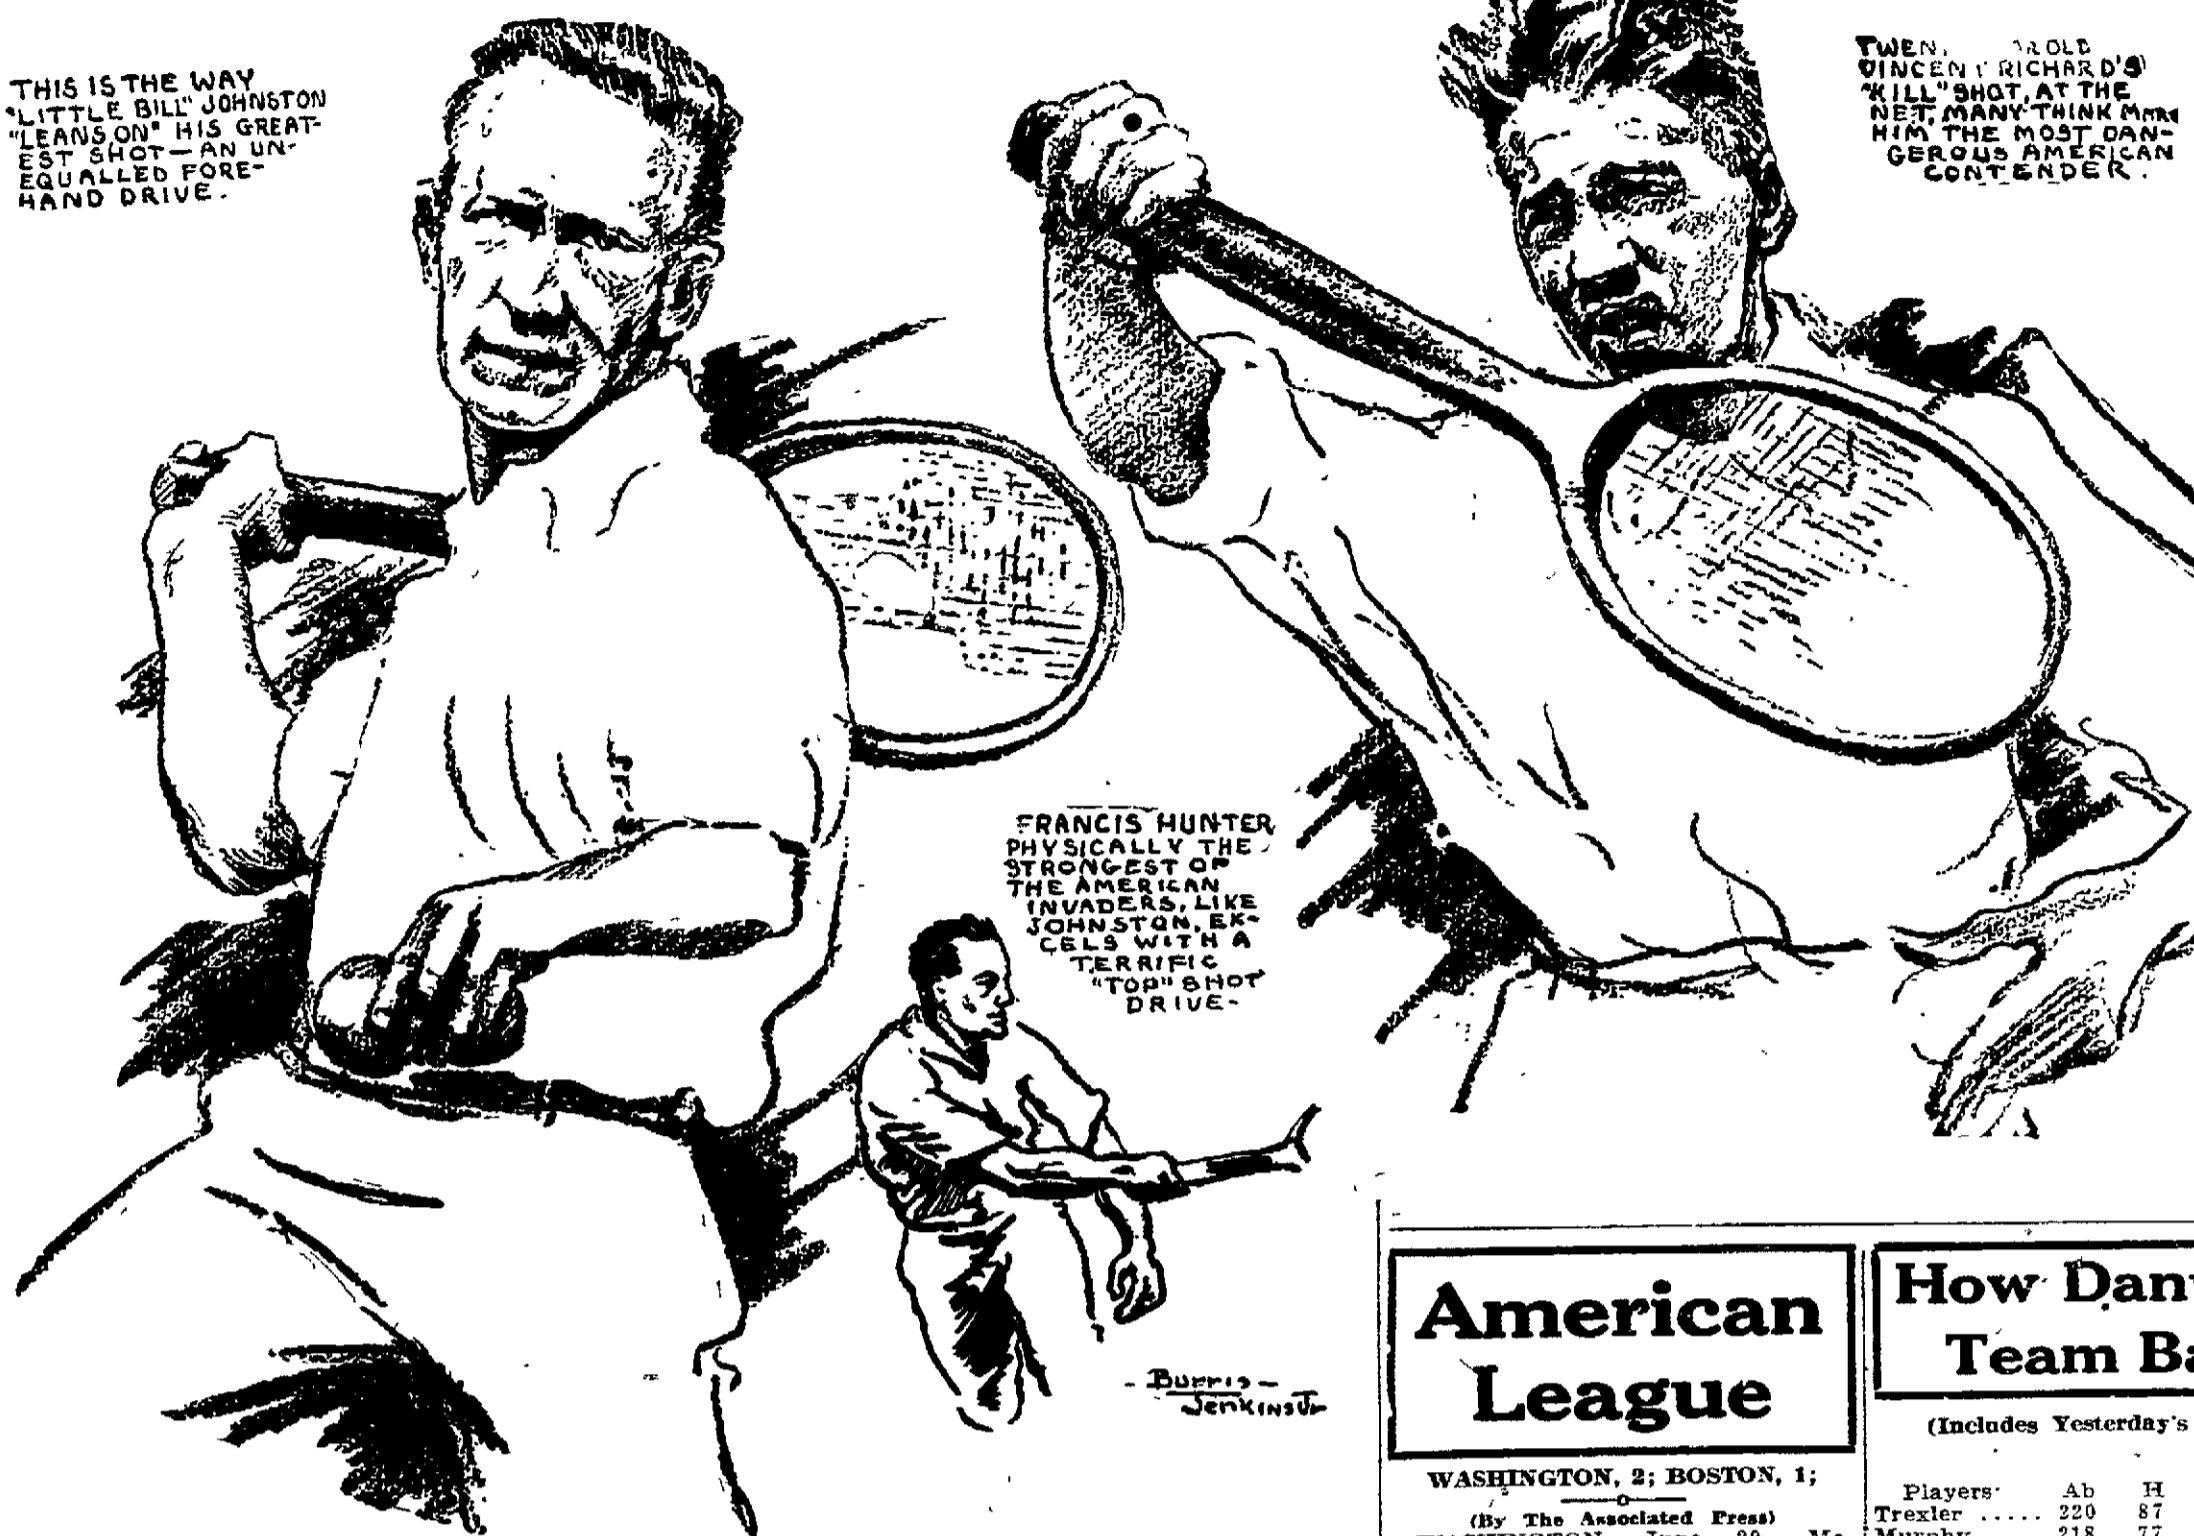

Night time on Main street. The single line of electric street lights gives three warning blinks and subsides. From the doors of the concession booths flows the pale effluence of kerosene lamps. Small oblongs, dull saffron glows, proclaim the presence of shop windows. Up and down the street a ceaselessly drifting welter of men—swaggering cowboys, shuffling Indians, Garish women, from Heaven knows where, just drifting, no place to go and not caring when they get there.

Description Of Boat Race Given

By WALTER CAMP.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee)

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 29.—Shades of old Hiram Conibear—Would that he were alive to see the triumph of his pupils, Ed Leader and "Rusty" Callow, on the Thames and on the Hudson—

The old continent has a marked list of the Pacific slope today, as when I trick the eight young lochmen came out of the west to this famous yesterday on the Hudson.

The University of Washington rowing team, a magnificent crew, arrived at the canny theories of rowing and conditions of a summer regatta in Conibear. Despite the fact that the team in the last year could not catch the Washington crew, the famous triumph of the "Rusty" Callow and Ed Leader was a victory for the team.

There was a man came new to the team. It was a hearty fellow, a native of the Pacific slope, and he had a lot to say about the finish line. But the matter of the regatta was decided in favor of the University of Washington, which by that delightful margin of one-fifth of a second.

In the junior varsity, Starus went right into the lead and held it all the way.

At the start of the main race, Columbia skinned into the lead, and stroke Brodell never let up. He had a length on Navy and nearly four on Washington in the first quarter. And he held on to it manfully. But Washington didn't care about that. She was watching the Navy, with one eye on Cornell as the other was beginning to pick up.

At the end of the race, Washington began to show her nose into the lead. Columbia was still leading, but she was nearly a length behind. As the bridge Navy began to overhaul Columbia, Washington, on the west bank, was stealthily creeping out further in front, and that, too, without any spurring. She was saving herself for that mad rush for home she knew the Navy would make. Navy shot past Columbia and claimed second place. That was enough work for Columbia held on bravely, but the Blue and White crew already had given it all.

Immediately the Navy set sail in earnest for those Washington leaders. Walling, for those Washington leaders, saw her coming. There was a length of clear water between. The finish was but a half mile away.

Walling called on his crew to increase its speed. He was not too soon, for those Annapolis chaps were up to forty strokes to the minute driving their shell through the water at a terrific pace. Washington saw it was beginning to be serious, so she raised her stroke. At first she did hold the Navy, the stern of whose boat had now eaten up that clear water, and was almost lapping Washington.

Extra effort told. In deadly earnest Washington answered Navy's home attack challenge. She held even with the Navy, and was beginning to draw away again in front of the Midshipmen when she shot over the finish line a full length to the good. It was a grand race.

Raleigh Defeats the Twins 8 To 3

WINSTON-SALEM, June 29.—With the diversified Carr Smith twirling like a big time moundsman and holding the Twins to 11 scattered hits Raleigh defeated the Twins here today 8 to 3 in an unusually slow affair.

The Twins' defeat came through their failure to hit Smith in pinches with men on bases. They were able several times to load the ring but could not push them across the rubber for markers. The Capitals took driving him from the mound at the last of the fourth. Smith was inclined to be wild at times but looked like a regular twirler with men on the bases.

Raleigh's big frame was the third when they scored four runs adding two more in the next inning and two in the eighth. Winston's lone tally came in the eighth. Smith's appearance on the mound

Gibbons Eases Up In Work On Account Heat

By HUGH FULLERTON.

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

SHELBY, Mont., June 30.—Tom Gibbons, Thunder Chief, eased up in his work yesterday while Shelby thrilled with hope and shivered with fear. Gibbons did not lessen his daily training through belief that the battle of July 4th would not be fought, but because this Montana sun burned as through a burning glass and the heat in the open was terrific.

Gibbons' work was fast, but not at all impressive, perhaps because working in a pine enclosure which was like a furnace. He went too good rounds with Bud Gorman, doing nothing in particular save to outpace and out-punch the puffed gladiator. Then he went at top speed with Delaney, who, however, was more wilted under the sun than the challenger was.

The four two-minute rounds left him dripping and as usual puffing slightly, but evidently feeling fine as the heavy perspiration cooled rapidly in the intense heat and the breeze. He shortened the work by taking Herman and Manley on but for one round each. It was noticeable that Gibbons held his speed while his sparring partners weakened most perceptibly which shows comparative condition.

Thunder Chief also reduced his work with the apparatus and contented himself with about half the work he has been doing. In spite of the heat and the burning power of the sun, blazing through the crystal clear air, Gibbons skin looked white, especially the legs and his condition is most excellent save a slight tendency toward sagging at the waist line.

Danville Wallops Durham; Patriots Take First

Murphy's Outfit Trims The Bulls

Danville experienced little difficulty in defeating the Durham Bulls here yesterday, the final score being 11 to 1. Incidentally "Lefty" Wilson pitched the best game of ball he has contributed this season, only a run being secured by the visitors and that a home run. Only one other time did the Bulls threaten and that was rather a weak effort.

The feature of the game was Allison's steal of second base in the sixth inning. At the time the steal was tried Murphy was resting on third base. Allison went down, but an accurate throw by Kearney caught him several feet from the keystone sack. He then halted and started back for first with Stringfield in hot pursuit. It was Allison's hope that Murphy would utilize the diversion to make for home. When Allison was almost caught by the speedy shortstop, he dropped suddenly to the ground, and Stringfield tripping over him sprawled all over the terrain between second and first. Allison had no trouble in reaching second, but Murphy did not make any attempt to reach home, he probably thinking the attempt useless. Danville took an early lead, securing four runs in the second inning. Cochlin being the hero of the occasion. Trexler led off with a double. Murphy was intentionally walked and Regan sacrificed the pair. Allison was also walked with malice aforethought, filling the stations. Cochlin was considered easy meat, but he fooled the opposition, lacing out a triple to center and three men came home. Cochlin came home on Wilson's single. By the way, Wilson batted just exactly 1,000 per cent in yesterday's game, getting two hits one a double, a sacrifice fly and being hit by a pitched ball in four times at the bat. "Lefty" double was a potential triple or homer, the ball going to the school house on the fly and bounding back into the left fielder's hands.

The locals added another run in the third on Smith's double and Murphy's single. In the sixth two more were obtained. Murphy singled, Regan sacrificed and Allison was hit by a pitched ball. Then followed the memorable aforementioned steal. Murphy scored on an infield tap by Cochlin who was thrown out at first and Allison scored on Wilson's sacrifice fly.

Four more were added in the eighth on four hits, a walk and a hit batter.

Durham's lone run resulted from Fletcher Gibbons' swat over right field fence.

Greensboro Cops the First Game

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 29.—Greensboro lessened the margin between them and first half honors this afternoon by taking the first game of the "little world's series" from Herndon's High Point club, 2 to 1.

The game, witnessed by 1,500 fans and fanettes, was close and hard-fought, the veteran Rube Eldridge and "Spac" Lankenau opposing each other on the mound. The Pointers secured two hits for every safety garnered by the locals, but failed to bunch them, while the locals made their duo of winning runs in the sixth on singles, a walk, an error and a stolen base.

High Point's lone tally in the third was the first in the game and the last as far as they were concerned. Eldridge fled out to right field, McCullough was hit, stole second and went to third on Kane's out, scoring on Thrasher's single.

For Greensboro in the sixth Shay singled and stole second, going to third when McCullough erred, letting Pierre reach first; O'Hara went out to right field; Conley was purposely walked, filling the bases; Jimmy Teague singled, scoring Shay and Pierre.

The feature of the game was the fielding of Conley and Cox. Greensboro's victory has increased an already heated interest in the Pointers and the grandstands are expected to overflow with red-hot fans tomorrow to see the outcome of the second game of the critical series.

PUTS A BAN ON TWO TWIRLERS

WINSTON-SALEM, June 29.—Manager Duke Duncan, of the Raleigh club, of the Piedmont League, was confronted with a rather perplexing situation while here today for two games with the locals, when, it is reported, he received a message from Commissioner of Baseball, K. M. Landis, telling him not to use Riel and Dudley, of his twirling corps until further notice.

As it happened Riel and Dudley were the only two pitchers who accompanied the team and Carr Smith, third baseman, was selected to twirl the game, which he won. Duncan said he would probably start tomorrow's game himself.

Riel and Dudley were the two men received from Washington in trade for Grier Friday. What is back of the order is not known, at least it was not let out by Duncan.

CHAMP GATE CRASHER HAS SOME TOUGH LUCK

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 29.—"One-Eyed" Connolly nearly lost his other eye on the way out here.

The most famous gate-crasher of all times, hailed as world champion in the art of breaking into prize-fights without a ticket—either paid for or free—is waiting to add forcing his way into the Gibbons-Dempsey fight to his list of achievements.

He arrived in Great Falls via the bumper route. On the way, a cinder got imbedded in his sole good eye. For a time, it was feared he would lose his sight entirely. But a local oculist performed an operation gratis and extracted the chunk of burned coal.
